SAKE & UMESHU

Our carefully crafted Sake collection showcases the diversity of the category. Sake should be enjoyed like wine with different sakes pairing well with different dishes and at different points of a meal.

Our serving sizes are Shaku (25ml), Gurasu (100ml) or Ichigo (175ml)

Futsu Shu - House or Table Sake (entry level, typically warmed)

Junmai - Typically 70% or higher polishing - no distilled alcohol added.

Daiginjo - Around 50% polishing. Fortified.

Honjozo - Around 70% polishing. Fortified.

Taruzake - Sake aged in the traditional manner in cedar wood barrels. This style was popular in the 'Samurai' era of Japan and is sometimes known as Samurai Sake. It became largely redundant with the advent of stainless steel tanks. However has returned as a unique style of sake in which the wood imparts flavour and heavy aroma.

Nigori - Unfiltered sake. Retains some of the cloudiness and texture of the rice

Umeshu - Sake blended with Plum Juice and typically fortified.
